Hazleton, Pa., June 14—A dastardly attempt to kill non-union men, was made here early this morning when unknown persons tried to blow up the house of James Applegate in West Hazelton. Two members of the family had remained at work in the mines.

A fifteen mile parade from Maybury to Vivian yards is booked for today. One thousand tents have arrived and are ready for the miners' families when ejectionment from their homes begins.

Wilkesbarre, June 14—A statement is published today that when the strike is over the operators will refuse to take back into their employment 50,000 of the 147,000 anthracite miners on strike and that the mines in localities where non-union men are interfered with will be closed to punish the citizens for helping the strikers. HUSBAND

MAY RECOVER FOR INJURIES SUSTAINED BY HIS WIFE.

To Amount He is Damaged by Loss of Her Services—Court Affirms Glenn Case.

In a written opinion backing up its decision of last Tuesday in the Licking county case of the D. and O. Railroad company against J. P. Glenn, the Supreme court rules that "at common law, a husband has a right of action against one who wrongfully or through negligence injures his wife to recover for the resulting loss of her services, and for his necessary medical, surgical and other expenses in healing her injuries; and his right of action is not bridged or affected by the legislation embraced in sections 3198 to 3211 inclusive, of the Revised Statutes."

This is the case where the wife of James P. Glenn of "Texas," this city, had her foot cut off by being run over by a locomotive of the B. & O., on Webb street crossing, in October, 1892. She sued the company for damages in her own right, and recovered a verdict in the Court of Common Pleas for about $1,900. The company took the case to the Circuit court where the judgment was affirmed. It then took the case to the Supreme court, which also affirmed the judgment.

About the same time James P. Glenn, her husband, also sued the company for the damages he individually suffered by having his wife's foot cut off. It was tried in the Common Pleas Court, and he secured a verdict for $650. The company took this case to the Circuit court, where the judgment was affirmed, and then to the Supreme court. In the Supreme court it was stoutly contended on the part of the company that the husband had no right to damages for his wife's injury, under the law; that she might recover for her own injuries, but the husband could not. And this was one of the points of contention between the parties. But the Supreme court affirmed the judgment, and held that to the extent that she was damaged by the injury she could recover damages individually; that the husband to the extent he was damaged could individually recover damages; that the husband was entitled, under the law, to the services of his wife in and about his domestic concerns, and to the extent that he was deprived of her services to that extent he was injured. The Supreme court will report the case in full, Hunter and B. G. Smythe Esq., for Glenn, Kibler & Kibler for the company.

It was on account of this accident and its resulting law suit that the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad company had the City Council vacate Webb street where it crosses the tracks in "Texas," and about which there is other litigation pending in the courts as to the right of the railroad company to abolish Webb street and shut it up without the consent of the property owners of "Texas," notwithstanding the Council vacated the street.

SHIPS SEVENTY MILES APART

When Communication Was Begun—Two Passengers Played An All Afternoon Contest.

New York, June 14.—The Cunard line, the first to establish the wireless system of telegraphy on all its steamers, inaugurated a unique feature on the Campania which arrived this morning from Liverpool. On June 10 Operator Cannon got in communication with the American line steamer Philadelphia bound to this port from Southampton. The Philadelphia was about 75 miles ahead of the Campania. After passing the usual courtesies, the Campania suggested a game of chess which was agreed to by the Philadelphia. Notice was posted and a passenger was found to play. The Philadelphia announcing readiness, the game commenced at 2 o'clock in the afternoon and lasted till 6:45 p. m. amid great interest. At that time the Campania came in touch with sister ship the Lucania, bound east for Liverpool from New York and was obliged to attend to business communications and suspend the chess game. When the game was stopped the Campania had the best of it and would have won.

QUARREL

OVER CARD GAME ENDED IN A MURDER.

VICTIM OF TRAGEDY A WOMAN A. YOUNGSTOWN.

THE MAN WHO FIRED THE SHOT

Has Escaped—Police Think There May Be Something Back of the Story That is Told.

Youngstown, O. June 14.—Mrs. Mary Sassanalli, an Italian woman, who was shot by Vincenzo Anduasie, last night, died this morning. She had been filled with bird shot by Anduasie, who had quarreled with the woman's husband over a game of cards. Sassanalli and his wife retired while Anduasie went to another room and loaded up his shotgun. He chopped in a paper of the door to the couple's room and shoved in the gun which Sassanalli tried to wrest away from him. Mrs. Sassanalli tried to escape to notify the police but the man shot her in the shoulder. She finally escaped to the alley when Anduasie getting the gun free shot her again tearing open her abdomen. He then marched boldly up the street with the gun in his hand and disappeared. A suspicious looking stab in the woman's leg lead the police to believe there is something more back of the story. The man has not yet been caught.

THE PRESIDENT

Of the City Council, Wilkesbarre, Pa., Cured of Rheumatism.

Col. Wm. J. Harvey, a president of Wilkesbarre's city council, who will long be remembered for his great work for the city, was once a mere physical wreck, torn in every muscle and nerve from the frightful pains caused by rheumatism. He consulted the best physicians, went abroad, took mud baths, and almost every known treatment for the disease. One of the city officials had had a very similar experience and Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy had cured him, so he recommended this great kidney medicine to his friend, and Col. Harvey is today a well man, hale and hearty. In his own abrupt way he states his case: Dr. David Kennedy.

Dear Sir:—This is to certify that I was permanently cured of rheumatism by the use of Dr. David Kennedy's Remedy.

WM. J. HARVEY.

Nothing could be more direct or more to the point than this simple statement.

Rheumatism is but another name for uric acid poisoning which is caused primarily by diseased kidneys. Cure your kidneys and the rheumatism disappears.

For all diseases of the kidneys, liver, bladder and blood, rheumatism, dyspepsia and chronic constipation, as well as sickness peculiar to women, Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is unquestionably the greatest medicine known to the medical profession.

All druggists sell Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy in the New 50 Cent Size and the regular $1.00 size bottles.

Punch was served throughout the evening, also a buffet lunch. Marsh's orchestra furnished delightful music from 8 o'clock until 2, and even then the merry makers were loth to leave.

The Panama Hat.

"Tip! Japa!" you stare at the name. (The dealer can't say it himself) And then at the hats of tropical fame. Heaped up on counter and shelf. "Guayaguayil." "Ecuador"—they're all on display. Strange shapes of woven straw And rich is the price you'll have to pay For a genuine Panama.

Save the better who shows you each style And smilingly aids in your quest; He has all the tricks of his trade to bestow. You're buying the best. Maps of the tropics, hatmakers' huts, Pieces of palm fiber raw; He talks and shows you clippings and cuts Till you pay for the best Panama.

Lucky indeed are the men who own And do not depend on name Panama hats from the tropical zone And know that they own the same. For you may pay over a twenty or two, Or even a hundred for that. For a Panama straw that's becoming to you And imagine you own the real hat; But then, alas, when the prices are cut You may find that your costly straw Was made somewhere in Connecticut—A Yankee made Panama.

Gray Hair a Crime?

Thousands of men and women are turned out of positions and many fail to secure situations because of gray hairs that make them look old. This need not be.

Hay's Hair-Health makes age hair and keeps thousands in employment. It is the only hair preparation that actually restores gray-faded or bleached hair to its natural color. It is not a dye. Its use cannot be detected. Equally good for men and women.

Caution.—At first my hair and mustache began turning gray. At the end of my reading I began to place beside me a bottle of Hay's Hair-Health and a 25c. cake of Hay's Hair-Health Soap. I began to use them. I have held my position, although many younger men, whose hair is black as my gray hair, have been dismissed. I thank you for my position.

MERCY

SHOULD BE EXTENDED TO THE TWO TAYLOR WOMEN.

According to the views of M. R. Scott Expressed in an Open Letter to Gov. Nash.

To Gov. Geo. F. Nash:

"I was much pleased that you did not commit Mrs. and Miss Frances Taylor to the Penitentiary; but I am not at all satisfied that you took the most righteous course in merely extending their reprieve to await an examination of Clara Taylor's mental condition; for even if her insanity should be fully established, and it should be made perfectly plain that 'her strange crime was the freak of an insane person,' the legal guilt of the other two women would be as clear as it ever was, and you would have to decide their application for pardon on its merits alone.

But I do not care to dwell on this technical inconsistency in your statement, rather I desire to urge and emphasize the point that this case ought not to be considered from a mere legal standpoint, that is, without taking into account all the facts and circumstances connected with it and recognizing all the principles of justice and humanity that it involves.

And looking at the case in this manner, I do not hesitate to declare that the commitment of these women to the penitentiary would save far more of cruelty and vengeance than the exercise of that mercy which in the eyes of God and man is needed for the perfection of justice. 'In my own mind,' Governor Nash, I have no fears that you will ever commit these women to the Penitentiary, after twice 'reprieving' them; but I would like to submit that in view of all the facts and conditions in the case and in view of what they have already suffered, they ought to be relieved of all apprehension of this fate and not be kept on the ragged edge of suspense for four months more.

With all due respect for the members of the Board of Pardons, they appear to have considered this case from a legal standpoint alone; so that when I read their report I was not a bit surprised to learn that they are all members of the bar and versed in legal practice! Perhaps I have no right to say they 'erred' in their consideration of this case; but I do maintain that the pardoning power of the Governor should be something more than a piece of legal machinery or an instrument for the application of ironclad 'rules' of law. Shall I go so far as to say that it ought to be a fountain of mercy in all cases wherein the public welfare will be promoted? Certainly its object should be to prevent undue severity and to promote a sentiment of justice and righteousness in the breasts of the people.

And as the court of last resort in this case, I hold that you ought to consider the peculiar facts and circumstances which it reveals. You ought to bear in mind that the prosecution of these women was begun continued and ended, not so much for the purpose of vindicating the law and 'punishing' the offenders as for the purpose of restoring a child to the outstretched arms of a mother who refused to be comforted as long as her first-born baby was separated from her eyes! It was a most righteous prosecution, and I have no unfavorable criticism to pass on the of favors connected with it; but that I do not reason why the law of mercy should not be applied to the case.

For, looking at the offense of these women in its worst possible light, women in its worst possible light, must yet concede that it differs from the ordinary case of child-stealing or kidnapping in the fact that their act was largely prompted by affection for the child. Call this affection un-

OLD MAN

WANTS TO MARRY A GIRL OF TWENTY-TWO.

But Eight Injunctions Have Been Issued—Relatives Follow Him All Over the State.

Omaha, Neb., June 14.—Frederick Renard of Oakland, Neb., although 84 years old, is anxious to marry and the girl of his choice is aged but 22 years. Nellie Craig, the belle of the town. Renard's estate is valued at $200,000.

The family of the aged suitor seeks ulterior motives in Miss Craig's readiness to wed and they are making every effort to check the affair before she gets a hand in the old man's strong box. To do this application was made in Knox county for the appointment of a guardian for him, but the process requires fifteen days' notice and the old man, learning of this, started for the license bureau.

His relatives beat him to the court-house and got out papers enjoining the clerk from issuing the license until after the matter of guardianship had been settled. Since then the old man and the younger Renards have been racing about the country, the one seeking a license and so far, the other beating him to the court house and procuring injunction papers. They reached Omaha yesterday.

So far eight injunctions have been issued against the aged suitor.

Life.

The poet's exclamation: "O Life! I feel thee bounding in my veins," is a joyous one. Persons that can rarely or never make it, in honesty to themselves, are among the most unfortunate. They do not live, but exist; for to live implies more than to be. To live is to be well and strong—to arise feeling equal to the ordinary duties of the day, and to retire not overcome by them—to feel life bounding in the veins. A medicine that has made thousands of people, men and women, well and strong, has accomplished a great work, bestowing the richest blessings, and that medicine is Hood's Sarsaparilla. The weak, run-down or debilitated, from any cause, should not fail to take it. It builds up the whole system, changes "existence" into life and makes life more abounding. We are glad to say these words in its favor to the readers of our columns.

Doctors Extend Their Time.

Owing to the large number of invalids who have called upon the British Doctors at Flat 2, AVALON FLATS, first floor, west end entrance, 109 W. Main street, and who have been unable to see them, these eminent gentlemen have, by request, consented to continue giving their services entirely free for three months (medicines excepted) to all invalids who call upon them for treatment.

BETWEEN NOW AND JULY 14th these services consist not only of consultation, examination and advice but also of minor surgical operations. To object in pursuing this course is to be objecting to the sick and afflicted and under no conditions will any charge whatever be made for any services rendered for three months, to all who call before July 14th.

The doctors treat all forms of disease and deformities and guarantee a cure in every case they undertake. At the first interview a thorough examination is made and, if incurable, you are frankly and kindly told so also advised against spending money for "useless treatment."

Male and female weakness, catarrh and catarrhal diseases, also varicose veins, goitre, cancer, and all diseases of the rectum are positively cured by their treatment. The elite associate surgeon of the Institute in personal charge.

Gray Hair a Crime?

Thousands of men and women are turned out of positions and many fail to secure situations because of gray hairs that make them look old. This need not be.

Hay's Hair-Health makes age hair and keeps thousands in employment. It is the only hair preparation that actually restores gray-faded or bleached hair to its natural color. It is not a dye. Its use cannot be detected. Equally good for men and women.

Caution.—At first my hair and mustache began turning gray. At the end of my reading I began to place beside me a bottle of Hay's Hair-Health and a 25c. cake of Hay's Hair-Health Soap. I began to use them. I have held my position, although many younger men, whose hair is black as my gray hair, have been dismissed. I thank you for my position.

AMUSEMENTS.

The bill for Idlewild Park for the week commencing Sunday, June 15, as printed in today's Advocate is certainly up to the standard and will no doubt draw large crowds to this beautiful park the coming week.

The management announce they have secured the great and only Professor Kenner, the hypnotist, who will perform his wonderful feats over the telephone, the subject being at the park and the professor being in the city. The bill for the week is as follows:

Pascatel, in artistic posturing and aerial contortion is the first on the program and is fine. Lizzie McKeever who is well known to be one of the most popular ballad and coon singers of the day has consented to appear for a week at the park. Holmes and Waldron the comedians in a high class musical comedy act are sure of making a hit.

Ruth, Gig and Claire will present Claire, the miniature Paderewski in the musical comedy sketch, "The Wax Doll." This sketch makes a great hit wherever presented and is sure to be well received at Idlewild Park.

The bill closes with the greatest of all European acrobats, Demora and Gracetti, in acrobatic novelties of all kinds. Fletcher's Imperial Orchestra will render in their usual excellent style, selections from the opera "Princess Chic."

Ballooning Over Sahara.

Just as soon as M. Deburax of France can raise a trifle of $160,000 he will construct and equip a balloon and allow himself to be blown from Tunis to the Niger across the Sahara desert. The Chicago Daily News, which tells the story, neglects to tell how M. Deburax intends to travel from the Niger to Tunis, which, after all, is unimportant at this stage of the game.

A Former Predicament.

The cook in a southern family was fat, black and sixty and a devoted churchwoman. A "laboring brother" in the same church, a widower with a dozen children, was so assiduous in his attentions that he could be seen haunting the kitchen at all hours. The mistress of the house finally said to the cook:

"I do hope you don't mean to marry that old man, with all those children."

"No, ma'am," was the reply. "I have been kotched in dat predicament once already," which was the first intimation that had been given in a long service that she was entitled to wear the weeds of widowhood.—Detroit Free Press.

ETERNITY.

A Little Known Poem by John Greenleaf Whittier.

This poem was written by Mr. Whittier in 1881 and was printed in the New England Review, which paper he was then editing. It was never collected, and I have never seen it copied. It was signed "Adrian," as were many of his early poems.—S. T. Pickard.

ETERNITY.

Boundless Eternity, the winged sands
That mark the silent lapse of flitting time
Are not for thee; thine awful empire
From age to age, unchangeable, sublime;
Thy domes are spread where thought
can never climb,
In clouds and darkness, where vast pillars rest.
I may not fathom thee; 'twould seem a crime
Thy being of its mystery to divest
Or boldly lift thine awful veil with hands unblest.

Thy ruins are the wrecks of systems; suns
Blaze a brief space of ages and are not;
Worlds crumble and decay, creation runs
To waste, then perishes and is forgot.
Yet thou, all changeless, heedest not the blot.
Heaven speaks once more in thunder;
Empty space
Trembles and wakes; new worlds in either fit.
Teeming with new creative life and trace Thy mighty circles, such as others shall displace.

Thine age is youth, thy youth is hoary
age,
Ever beginning, never ending thou
Bearest inscribed upon thy ample page,
Yesterday, forever, but as now.
Thou art, thou hast been, shalt be;
though
I feel myself immortal when on thee
I muse, I shrink to nothingness and drowse.
Mystic before thee, dread Eternity,
With God coeval, coexisting, still to be.

I go with thee till time shall be no more;
I stand with thee on time's remotest verge,
Ten thousand years, ten thousand times
told o'er;
Still, still with thee my onward course I urge.

And now no longer hear the endless surge
Of time's light billows breaking on the shore
Of distant earth; no more the solemn dirge
Requiem of worlds, when such are numbered o'er—
Steals by; still thou art moving on forevermore.

From that dim distance would I turn to gaze
With fondly searching glance upon the spot
Of brief existence where I met the blaze
Of morning bursting on my humble cot
And gladness whispered of my happy lot.

And now 'tis dwindled to a point, a speck,
And now 'tis nothing, and my eye may linger
Longer distinguish it amid the wreck
Of worlds in ruins, crushed at the Almighty's beck.

Time—what is time to thee? A passing thought
To twice ten thousand ages, a faint spark
To twice ten thousand suns, a fiber of wraith.

Into the web of infinite, a cork
Balanced against a world; we hardly mark
Its being; even its name hath ceased to be;
Thy wave hath swept it from us, and thy dark
Mantle of years in dim obscurity
Hath shrouded it around. Time, what is time to thee?

LODGE
NEWS

B. P. O. E.

Newark Lodge, 591, B. P. O. E., was instituted on March 22, 1898, with about 40 members, and since that time its growth has been very rapid until it now has a membership of nearly 150, composed of the leading business and professional men of the city.

The order of Elks, which now number over 100,000 members, composing the various lodges in over 600 of the principal cities of this country, is the outgrowth of a small coterie of members of the theatrical and musical professions who met in New York City in the early winter of 1867-68, and formed themselves into a social organization known as the "Jolly Corks," the principal object of which was to have a good time whenever and wherever they happened to meet. The prime mover in the formation of this little society was Charles Algernon Sidney Vivian, the son of an English clergyman, who had but a short time previous landed in New York and who was at the time singing in the old American Theatre on Broadway, and whose memory is now honored by the thousands of Elks throughout the land as the founder of the order.

So popular did the "Corks" become among the members of the profession, and so rapidly did the society increase both in numerical and financial strength that it soon became evident that it should be placed on a firmer basis and given a more dignified name. Vivian, as "Imperial Cork," of the organization, was chairman of a committee appointed for that purpose and suggested the name of "Buffaloes" the title of a social organization of which he had been a member in England, but the majority were in favor of a name that was purely American in its suggestions, and at a meeting on February 16, 1868, the name of "Elks" was adopted by the close vote of 8 to 7, and that date has since been regarded and observed as the natal day of the order of Elks.

The animal from which the order derives its name is the American Elk, and the title commended itself to the founders for the reason that the splendid qualities of this monarch of the glen, were so marked. The Elk is described as strong of limb, fleet of foot, keen of perception, and at the same time gentle, timid and unaggressive. save when attacked. Its prototype in the man should be quick to hear the cry of distress, fleet of foot to succor the unfortunate, and by its strength exercise a protective interest for the weak and defenseless.

Charity, Justice, Brotherly Love, and Fidelity, are the watchwords of the Order, and Humanity its keynote. Its ranks are most widely represented, candidates for membership meeting no test of origin, class, creed or calling; true, honest hearts, and manly records are the only requisites. Possessed of these, they are welcome as Brother Elks, the social, humane, and noble side of their natures encouraged, and all those grand qualities that make life's burdens lighter and the world less drear are fostered and developed with the noble aim, as has been well expressed, "to make of its members better sons, kinder brothers and husbands, more useful citizens and neighbors."

The annual Ohio State Convention and Reunion of Elks will be held in this city under the auspices of Newark Lodge, 591, B. P. O. E. during the first week of next September. This great annual event will bring thousands of strangers to our city and will be a great benefit to Newark's business interests and in every other way. The convention proper will probably take up two or three days of the week, culminating with a grand parade of Elks the last day of the convention, at which handsome and attractive prizes will be offered for the lodge most largely represented in the

What are Humors?

They are vitiated or morbid fluids coursing the veins and affecting the tissues. They are commonly due to defective digestion but are sometimes inherited.

How do they manifest themselves? In many forms of cutaneous eruption, salt rheum or eczema, pimples and boils, and in weakness, languor, general debility. How are they expelled? By parade, the handsomest uniformed lodge, the most uniquely attended lodge, etc. Frank Bostock's mammoth aggregation of shows, comprising the finest collection of trained wild animals in the world, and numerous other attractions will exhibit here under the auspices of the Elks during the entire week. It is especially desirable and it is requested that our business men and citizens generally shall decorate their business places and home profusely with the National colors and with purple and white, the emblems of the Elks, so as to give our visitors the royal greeting they deserve. Special rates will be granted on all railroads in the state, and mammoth crowds are expected. The first day of the reunion will be Labor Day.

Masonic.

A special convocation of St. Luke's Commandery No. 34, Knights Templar will be held on next Tuesday evening, on which occasion the Order of the Temple will be conferred.

Warren Chapter No. 6 R. A. M., held a special convocation on last Monday evening, at which there was a good attendance of the members. There was work in the Royal Arch degree and after the work all sat down to one of the best spreads ever enjoyed by the chapter.

Odd Fellows.

No secret society lodge in the city has enjoyed greater prosperity or success than that of the Odd Fellows' fraternity. Both the subordinate lodges are in a prosperous condition, and are holding interesting meetings.

We have never seen a definition of the term Odd Fellow, and we suspect that scarcely anyone could, on the spur of the moment, give the origin of the word. It may be true, too, in the definition were strictly applied to most of us in the Order that we would not fill the bill either. One says that an Odd Fellow is one who is peculiar, one who attracts attention for being unlike any one else. That is perhaps true in the dictionary sense of the word, but that is not the meaning in the sense that the Independent Order of Odd Fellows is odd. An Odd Fellow may look like any other man, but he does things that no one else will do. Any one else might do the same thing, and every one should do the same thing, but the trouble is the other fellow won't do it. The man of the fraternity simply does what no one else will do, and from this fact derives his name. The Samaritan was an Odd Fellow in that he did what the Priest and the Levite should have done but would not. Micahiah, the prophet, was an Odd Fellow in that he told Ahab that he would not come back from the battle alive after 400 others had predicted that he would. The 400 said what they did to please the king, but Micahiah said that the king would not return because he wanted to do right and tell the truth, not caring whom it pleased or didn't please. The true Odd Fellow never stops to ask what some one else would do, but says, "He is, after all, my brother."—Western Odd Fellow.

Don't permit members of the lodge to fall "away back" in arrears. When the brother is in arrears jog him up; when three months in arrears jog him again; when six months in arrears, go to him and jostle him severely. Visit him, brother secretary, and urge him to obey his solemn obligation to deal honestly with the lodge and his brothers; and if he wishes to leave the Order urge him to pay up and withdraw in a manly way, by withdrawal card or resignation. Many members are lost because of the lack of interest taken in them by the financial secretary. A financial secretary who can report no delinquents at the close of the term is a jewel that should be valued at a higher rate than any other officer—and should be retained.

OUR WORKING GIRLS.

Help and Health for Those Who Now Cry, "Oh! Dear, I am Really Not Well Enough to Work, But I am Obligated To."

How often these significant words are spoken in our great mills, shops, and factories by the poor girl who has worked herself to the point where nature can endure no more and demands a rest! The poor sufferer, broken in health must stand aside and make room for another.

The foreman says, "If you are not well enough to work you must leave, for we must put some one in your place."

Standing all day, week in and week out, or sitting in cramped positions, the poor girl has slowly contracted some deranged condition of her organic system, which calls a halt in her progress and demands restoration to health before she can be of use to herself or any one else.

To this class of women and girls Mrs. Pinkham proffers both sympathy and aid. When these distressing weaknesses and derangements assail you, remember that there is a remedy for them all. We have on record thousands of such cases that have been absolutely and permanently cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, restoring to vigorous health and lives of usefulness those who have been previously sorely distressed. Read the following letter.

Here is the Story of Thousands of Young Women who are Helped to Health by Mrs. Pinkham.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I am troubled very much with the whites, and a bearing down of the womb. My back aches so that I am hardly able to work. Will you kindly inform me what to do as I am suffering most terribly."—Miss MAY BUCHNER, Middle Village P. O., Long Island, N. Y. (Mar. 17, 1900.)

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I write to thank you for the good your remedies have done me. I wrote to you describing my troubles and followed your directions. I had doctored a great deal but nothing seemed to help. After using six bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and four packages of Sanative Wash I am again strong and healthy. The Sanative Wash cured me of the leucorrhoea (whites). I would recommend your remedies to all suffering women who need them."—Miss MAY BUCHNER, Middle Village P. O., Long Island, N. Y.

When a medicine has been successful in restoring to health more than a million women, you cannot well say without trying it, "I do not believe it will help me." If you are ill, do not hesitate to get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once, and write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for special advice. It is free and helpful. Write to-day, delay may mean death.

$5000 REWARD

Owing to the fact that some skeptical people have from time to time questioned the genuineness of the testimonial letters we are constantly publishing we have deposited with the National City Bank, of Lynn, Mass., $5,000, which will be paid to any person who will show that the above testimonial is not genuine, or was published before obtaining the owner's special permission.—LYDIA E. CLOSING EXERCISES.

of Miss Laura Jones' Private School.

The closing exercises of Miss Laura Jones' Private school were held on Thursday morning. The well prepared program was enjoyed by those present. At its close, all heard with surprise and regret that Miss Jones is giving up her very successful school, and Miss Grace Mackey, assisted by Miss Ann Fulton, will have charge of it in the fall. Lemonade was served in the school room where specimens of the year's work were looked at with great pleasure. At noon a delicious lunch was served to the members of the school.

The program for the morning exercises included recitations by Mary Sherwood Wright, Neta Stinger, Fern Andrews, Eugenia Glenn, Song by Miss Marie Booth: International Peace, read by Mabel Glenn; School prophecy by Ada Day; Journal by Mabel Glenn; Comparisons by Mabel Traylor and Mary Sherwood Wright. A solo, Miss Ethel Hutson; German dialogue by Mary Sheppard and Nita Stinger. Misses Hazel Thomas, Margaret Ickes, Sara Seymour, Mary Everett, Hazel Altschul and Miss Besie Ridd also took part in the program.

ONCE OWNED MARTINIQUE.

Georgia Woman's Grandmother Sold It For Fear of Eruptions.

A most interesting story was recently told an Athens (Ga.) Banner reporter concerning the original possession of the island of Martinique. The story concerns Mrs. S. C. Reese of Athens, whose grandmother once owned a greater part of the volcanic isle.

Mrs. Reese's grandmother was Mme. Gouvain, who was closely related in marriage to Count de Trobriand of France. She was an intimate friend of Josephine de Beauharnais, who afterward became the wife of the great Napoleon, and she left France on the night on which Napoleon married the Austrian princess, Marie Louise, and came to America.

Not satisfied with her possessions in the French West Indies after her coming to America, she traded her land on the island of Martinique to Count d'Estaling, the gallant French officer to whom were given valuable lands in America for his services to the colonies during the Revolution. Most of these lands were in the southern states, and 20,000 acres were situated in Georgia, some of which embraced the present site of Athens and others of which lay near Tallulah Falls.

Mme. Gouvain was advised by her agent to sell her possessions in Martinique on account of the volcanic condition of the country, and time has proved the wisdom of her choice. She was a very wealthy woman and in close confidence with the powers of the monarchy of France.

Mrs. Reese has now in her possession a most gorgeous dress of her grandmother which was worn at the marriage of Napoleon to Josephine Beauharnais and which is a priceless relic.

The story of the division of the Gouvain estate, formerly belonging to D'Estaling, is one of piecemeal separation and division until it became possessed by hundreds of relatives of the noted Frenchwoman. Mrs. Reese possesses much information in the shape of papers, maps, etc., concerning the island of Martinique which descended from its original owner.

INTERURBAN DEAL

Involving Newark & Granville and City Electric Lines.

PROPOSED LINE TO RUN TO ZANESVILLE

Columbus, Newark & Buckeye Lake Company Negotiating For Purchase of the Newark & Granville and Newark City Lines—Officers are Reticent.

A deal is on for the purchase of the Newark and Granville electric road, including the city electric line by the men who own the Columbus, Buckeye Lake and Newark traction lines.

This is no idle rumor, but a fact. While the deal has not as yet been consummated, it has progressed far enough to make it practically certain that it will go through, though it must be remembered that "nothing is so uncertain as a dead sure thing."

The local officers of the Newark and Granville electric road are reticent. In fact, they are very reticent, but from a reliable source the Advocate has it that the deal between the local company and the Buckeye Lake men is well under way and is about completed.

Mr. Savage and his associates representing the Columbus, Buckeye Lake and Newark road, are in the city and have just opened an office on North First street, formerly occupied by Dr. Galbreath, the dentist. Here they will do the office work connected with the survey of the routes between Newark and Zanesville. It is said that at the present time the most feasible is from Newark to Stadden's bridge then across Flint Ridge to Browns ville, and then down the national road to Zanesville. A road over that route would tap the canal coal field of Flint Ridge and would reach a territory rich in potter's clay and fine sand. Below the canal coal on Flint Ridge is a four foot vein of bituminous coal. The ridge is covered with flint that would make excellent ballast. Then down about Hopewell, a section through which no steam or electric road passes, is a large tract of bituminous coal, land which in a comparatively small way, has been operated for years.

This survey is to be hurried and it is altogether probable that the road will be built and that, in case the deal for the purchase of the city lines is consummated, a big power house will be built six or eight miles east of Newark. In that event no power house at Newark will be necessary. Mr. J. M. Ickes, the postmaster, has been active in promoting this enterprise.

But to return to the proposed purchase of the Newark and Granville and the city lines. It is known that men associated with the N. & G. road have obtained a franchise for the construction of a road from Granville to the Franklin county line, running via Palaskala. It is known that the Columbus, Newark and Eastern, represented by Harry Young, has also obtained a franchise in Columbus and Franklin county. The proposed route between Newark and Columbus is about four miles shorter than the Buckeye Lake line and the difference is no inconsiderable factor in the run between Newark and Columbus. It is known too, that plans have been considered for extending the N. & G. road from Granville to Alexandria, a town six miles farther west and from Alexandria to New Albany connecting with the new Johnstown and Columbus road. The purchase of the N. & G. line by the Buckeye Lake would of course stop all such negotiations and would leave the Buckeye Lake people masters of the situation.

The Newark and Granville end of the road is said to have been a good investment from the time it was started to the present day and the Newark city lines are known to have been on a paying basis for some time.

The consideration in the purchase can only be guessed at but it is understood to be 'way up in the thousands. If the Buckeye Lake company buys, it will proceed at once to re-equip the lines, and put everything in fine condition. Mr. Wright has done much to improve the equipment and the service on the lines here, but when he took hold there was a big job ahead of him and much remains to be accomplished.

"SOMETHING DOING."

Columbus, Ohio, June 14.—There are persistent rumors here of the purchase by the Columbus, Buckeye Lake and Newark people of the Newark and Granville and also the Newark city electric lines.

Mr. A. E. Appleyard, acting for Tucker and Anthony, the big Boston capitalists, has, so the rumor goes, closed a deal in behalf of the Columbus, Buckeye Lake & Newark Traction company for the purchase of the city lines of Newark, and the interurban line to Granville. The price paid was, or is to be several hundred thousand dollars. It is understood that the sale will be consummated within the next few days and that the papers will be made out by that time. It is further understood that after the deal has gone through, the C. B. L. & N. road will build through to Zanesville.

The road from here to Granville via Newark will give the C. B. L. & N. Traction company 85 miles of track. J. R. Herrigan general superintendent of the Buckeye Lake line said that there was something of the kind doing, but that it was a little early to talk about the matter.

Saturday morning's Cincinnati Enquirer says: Arthur E. Appleyard of Boston, who has opened an office in Cincinnati recently for a general bond and investment business, owns a controlling interest in the following roads: Columbus, London and Springfield, Columbus, Grove City and Southwestern, Central Market street (Columbus), the Dayton, Springfield and Urbana, Urbana, Bellefontaine and Northern, the Springfield and Western, and the Dayton, Lebanon and Cincinnati roads.

This system of interurban roads differs from others in that it is built, with minor exceptions, on its own right of way, and the weight of rail, ballasting, grades and quality are in all respects equal to any of the standard grade steam roads.

The system is at present in operation between Columbus and Dayton, O. The Dayton, Lebanon and Cincinnati is now operating as a steam road from Lebanon Junction (on the outskirts of Dayton) to Lebanon. This line will be extended south to Cincinnati and converted into an electric line.

Messrs. Tucker and Anthony, Boston capitalists, has almost completed a big interurban railroad deal with the Newark street railway company and the interurban road operating between Granville and Newark, in which these systems are to be bought and merged in the Buckeye Lake and Newark Traction company. The terms are not yet agreed upon and it will be some time before the deal is closed.

ELECTRIC ROAD DEAL.

At 3 p. m. Saturday a man well versed in interurban railway affairs told the Advocate that the deal for the purchase of the N. & G. and the city lines by the Buckeye Lake company, had been closed and only details remain to make the deal complete.

Secretary Shinnick had nothing to say when questioned over the 'phone. Mr. Shinnick simply said he knew nothing about the matter.

YOU WILL BE HAPPY IF YOU ARE WELL.

PAINE'S Celery Compound

Bestows That Health and Vigor That Makes Living a Pleasure.

If you are sick and out of sorts in June, it is in your power to make yourself healthy, strong and happy.

There is not the slightest reason why you should go through the hot summer weather feeling sickly, miserable, languid, and melancholic. To be well and strong, means happiness and true joy, and this is the season when you should be bright, hearty and glad.

If you are sleepless, rheumatic, neuralgic, dyspeptic, or have the shadows of disease hovering over you; if you are not as bright, energetic and strong as you were some weeks ago, the use of Paine's Celery Compound will tone up the blood, correct digestion, sharpen the appetite and conduce to restful sleep. Thousands once in a half-dozen condition owe their present good health to the use of Paine's Celery Compound.

Mr. Wm. S. Gibson, of Pleasantville, Ky., who, through sickness and suffering, was brought near the dark grave, writes as follows, regarding his marvelous cure:

"I have been broken down in health and strength, nervous system shattered, kidneys out of order, and nervous and trembling spells of rancor on for the last ten years. I have taken three bottles of your Paine's Celery Compound and all of the above-mentioned troubles have left me, and I can now do a good day's work. I go about my business all day long and it don't worry me, and I now feel better than I have in ten years. I have a good appetite, and can eat and get around on foot as active as when I was a boy. My age is 65 years."

COMFORTING WORDS

Many a Newark Household will Find Them So.

To have the aches and pains of a bad back removed; to be entirely free from annoying, dangerous urinary disorders is enough to make any kidney sufferer grateful. To tell how the great change can be brought about will prove comforting words to hundreds of Newark readers.

Mr. T. Henderson, No. 189 Baltimore street, says: "I can only say that after giving Doan's Kidney Pills a trial, they showed themselves to be all that was claimed for them. I had a good deal of pain over my kidneys. If I contracted a cold, no matter how slight, it always affected them first, and as a result my back grew worse being frequently so painful that it was more than I could do sometimes to straighten up. The urine was of bad color and odor, evidence that the kidneys were not altogether right. After I obtained Doan's Kidney Pills at Crayton's drug store all this trouble was corrected. The kidneys passed away the impurities and my back was strong and free from pain."

B. & O. EXCURSIONS

The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad and the Civil War, 1861-1865.

It was the first and most desirable point of vantage coveted by both the Federal and Confederate armies. In May, 1861, the four Federal advance columns concentrated at Parkersburg, W. Va., Wheeling, W. Va., Harper's Ferry, W. Va., and at Washington. To retain the advantage, the Federal Government established block houses along the railroad from the Monocacy to the Ohio river, besides forts at Winchester, Harper's Ferry, Cumberland, Piedmont and New Creek (Keyser). The B. & O. was the base of operations for the Federal army for nearly four years and from which the government could not take advance line earlier than November 1864. The B. & O. was the means of communication between the West and the Army of the Potomac, and was consequently in a continual state of siege. Harper's Ferry, the key to the Shenandoah Valley, first famed through the fanatical attempt of John Brown, in defying the laws and customs of his country, was captured and recaptured eight times in three years. The Government Arsenal and armories which were located there, were destroyed by the government to prevent their capture. One hundred and seventy-nine battles of greater or less importance were fought on or adjacent to the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, not taking into consideration the innumerable skirmishes.

All through trains from St. Louis, Louisville, Cincinnati, Chicago, Columbus, Cleveland, Wheeling and Pittsburgh to the East, run via Washington.

Excursion tickets are sold every Sunday between all local stations west of the Ohio river on the Baltimore & Ohio at rate of one fare for the round trip, good going and returning on date of sale only.

THE FUTURE OF MEXICO

What It Presents as a Field For Endeavor.

VIEWS OF MEXICAN BUSINESS MAN

Signor Terrazas Says His Country Offers Great Opportunities in the Next Twenty Years—Development in Industries in Chihuahua—Possibilities of Trade With the East.

Juan Terrazas of Chihuahua, Mexico, who is one of the best known men of the republic in business and financial circles, was recently interviewed by a reporter of the New York Tribune at the Waldorf in New York. What he has to say about Mexico and Mexican conditions may be regarded as nearly ex cathedra as the statement of an individual often is. At his hotel he said: "I can truthfully declare that if a bright young man wants a field that offers him plenty of opportunity and a good reward for honest work there is no better field than Mexico. The growth of Mexico in the last twenty years has been great, but the resources of the country are only beginning to be developed. The country in the next twenty years offers a great opportunity. Take the case of the state of Chihuahua, which now has about 500,000 inhabitants. Twenty years ago there were not more than a fifth of that number, I should say. Along the big river bottoms of that state is splendid agricultural land. In the north is grazing country that supports at least one herd of 300,000 cattle and another of 80,000, besides smaller herds in numbers. Then there are flocks of sheep, one numbering 200,000 head. The wool from these sheep is milled right in Chihuahua city. In the west of the same state are the mountains, with their rich veins of ore, silver, copper, lead, antimony and some gold, where Americans have already entered the field with profit. You can see what the country can do from what it already has done."

Continuing, Signor Terrazas told of the present outlet of the produce of this region. "Only a few days ago," he said, "eighty thousand head of cattle were sent north to Texas and Kansas, where they will be fattened and slaughtered and sold in Kansas City and in Chicago. We can use many of them in Mexico, of course, but the bulk will go up to Kansas City and Chicago. However, there is already in Chihuahua city a plant that can slaughter 200 head a day and pack the beef as well as dress mutton. In the City of Mexico a similar plant is about to be established. The cottonseed industry is a still better illustration of Mexico's development. Some time ago the cotton seed was thrown away. Then, after its value was realized, it used to be made into oil and the pressed kernel sent to England for food to fatten cattle. Now there is a plant in the state just south of Chihuahua, the cotton district, the managers of which have secured the right to all the cotton seed for twenty-five years and which utilizes about as much as can be reasonably demanded. First oil is made, then the pressed kernel is used to fatten their own Mexican cattle, and finally the shells are used for fuel, and the ashes, rich in potassium, are sold for fertilization purposes. A large block of capital is invested in the enterprise, with excellent returns. In Mexico it must not be forgotten that labor is cheap, averaging a dollar a day in Mexican money, and while I won't say it is so good as American labor, it is very good. There are no labor troubles to contend with. While it may be true that English and American agriculturists have not done so well in Mexico as their fellow countrymen who have gone into mining, that does not argue that the field is not a profitable one, only that they have not known how quite to adapt themselves to the different conditions imposed by the nature of the soil and climate. It demands some study, but it repays."

Another feature of Mexico's future but little thought of by most people, but about which the speaker was most hopeful, is the Asiatic trade, which he feels is about to come. "When the Chihuahua and Pacific railroad is completed to Port St. Louis, on the Pacific coast," he said, "it will mean that a transcontinental line will run through Mexico, for an agreement between that road and the Kansas City, Mexico and Orient road will make the line continuous from Kansas City through Chihuahua to the Pacific, cutting down by at least 300 miles all present distances across the continent to the far east. A line, or, rather, lines, of steamers direct from Mexico to Japan, China and other oriental points will result, and instead of getting our tea, silks and the like via San Francisco, as we do now, we will get them direct. What we will give in return I do not yet know, but I feel confident a return trade will spring up. Another thing that this road will accomplish for us internally is the development of the coalfields, which are at present unworked for lack of railroad facilities. Mexico is always in need of fuel, and that will be a great advancement. There are oil wells, too, to be worked, and on the extreme west, between the mountains and the coast, a very rich agricultural region. The transcontinental line is sure to build up to some extent the country through which it passes. In addition it means an opening up of new fields for Mexican development. A young man at the present time may well look twice before he refuses Mexico as a field for endeavor."

Dog in the Manger.

Formal notice of the famous injunction was served on Lajoie and Pitcher Bernard at Cleveland, which is preliminary to the bringing of a suit in the Ohio courts. It seems that Rogers will not let Lajoie rest, and yet is unwilling to pay him his price to play with the Philadelphia National League team. It is to be supposed that C. L. Rogers has heard the story of the dog in the manger. He reminds every one else of the famous fable.

College Boat Racing.

The Cornell crew arrived at Poughkeepsie Friday. Pennsylvania and Columbia are there and all the crews are practicing hard for the races on the Hudson, on June 21. Pennsylvania went over the course Thursday and although the water was very rough their work was quite satisfactory. Coach Hanlon of Columbia, is confident of winning, while Courtney can see nothing to it but Cornell. Hildebrand, Penn's stroke, was knocked out on Thursday. He hit himself in the chin and was laid out with his head in the water. He was not injured. Hanlon qualifies his opinion of Columbia's coming victory by sagely remarking, "Look out for Georgetown."

Dobbs Badly Hurt.

During practice at New York Friday Dobbs and Magoon collided while running after a fly ball, and Dobbs is now in the hospital suffering from probably serious injuries. Magoon was able to resume play. It will take several days to determine the nature and result of Dobbs' injuries.

Columbus Drops Again.

Columbus dropped another notch by losing to Louisville Friday 5 to 2.

Nattress played great ball at short accepting 10 chances without an error.

Sporting Notes.

Hahn and Mathewson were the opposing pitchers in most of Friday's game, and a total of 21 hits and 12 runs were made New York losing 7 to 5. This number of hits and runs is unusual when such slab artists as Hahn and Mathewson officiate.

Chicago lost at Philadelphia through errors. Taylor and White both pitched great ball. The Chicago White Sox won from Boston, shutting them out. Comiskey's team is leading the American, and is playing great ball.

Albert Champion of France, set the motor paced bicycle record at 14.06 at the Washington Coliseum. This is 44 seconds better than the record made at Baltimore Tuesday night.

Miss Genevieve Hecker's golf score of 18 holes in 77 strokes made this week is probably the record for a woman golfer. Miss Hecker was beaten in the semi-finals by Mrs. Manice.

Tim Donahue, for years the mainstay of the Chicago team behind the bat, died in Taunton, Mass., Friday from Addison's disease, aged 31 years.

The $15,000 St. Louis Derby will be run this afternoon, the field including four candidates for the American Derby. Aladdin and Little Scout are equal favorites at 3 to 1.

Orth of Washington, had a great day Friday. He allowed St. Louis only 6 hits and one run, and made a three bagger and home run off Donahue.

Andy Freedman says that the appointment of George Smith does not mean that Fogel has been deposed as manager of the Giants, but that Fogel was merely employed to build up the team which position he will continue to hold.

Kid Lavigne became violently insane at Stockton, Cal., Friday night.

THE PRESIDENT'S HUNT.

Roosevelt Will Find Many Bears to Shoot in Mississippi Swamps.

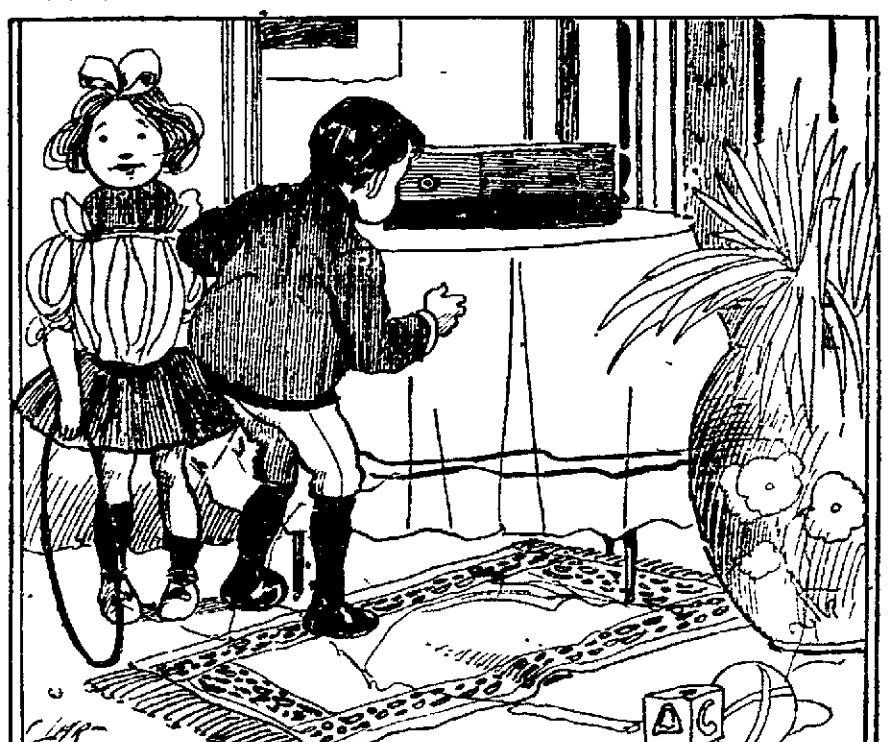

Planters in the delta settlement near Jackson, Miss., report that bears are unusually plentiful for this season of the year, and the swamps are filled with many fine specimens of the black brute. This gives assurance that if President Roosevelt goes to Mississippi next fall to take a bear hunt with Governor Longino, as he signified an intention of doing, he will have rare sport in the canebrakes so long as he may care to indulge in it, says the New York Times. In Tallahatchie county, where Governor Longino's plantation is located, bears are so plentiful that the farmers are organizing big hunts as a source of protection to their live stock.

A story recently reached Jackson of a bloody attack made by a big black bear in the Grindle Hole neighborhood, about seven miles from Charleston, on a drove of hogs belonging to a planter named Faulkner. The animal was evidently half crazed with hunger and made repeated onslaughts at the hogs, being driven off on each occasion by the planter, who, owing to the darkness, was unable to get a good shot at the brute.

It is expected that the governor will hear in the next few weeks from the president as to the exact date of his visit.

THE POPULAR PANAMA

How the Present Hat Habit Grew Up.

GUAYAQUIL CHIEF SHIPPING POINT

First South American Headgear of Alpine Shape Was Made on the Order of a Merchant at This Place. Screw Palms Are Used in Making the Hats.

The moth eaten and threadbare jokes about the expensive hats for women in comparison with the democratic headgear of the men of a family must be laid away for awhile, says the New York Tribune. For many years there has been little change in the prices of men's straw hats. The regular article ranged from $1.50 to $5, with bargain counter variations.

But this summer has brought a new straw hat condition because of the popularity of the panama. In discussing the matter a hat dealer said that the panama hat habit was an outgrowth of expansion. "Our people have been going to the tropical possessions of late," he said, "and the big, light straw hats which are called 'panama' because they come from almost any old place down south except Panama are among the souvenirs which they bring back with them. One person in a family having one of these hats made, the others want the same kind, and in that way little orders became large ones, hats were made in large quantities for 'Yankee trade,' and the panama hat habit became established."

The chief shipping point for panama hats is Guayaquil, and it was on the order of a merchant at that point that the first South American hats of the alpine shape were made. Before 1807 all of these hats were of the shapeless sombrero shape, with a crease across the top of the crown. The shape has been improved, but the method of making the hats is the same as it was many years ago, when they received the name "panama" because they came by way of the isthmus to the United States and other distant countries. The material used in the making of panama hats is the screw palm, called by naturalists Carludovicia palmata. It is of the palm family and is described by Charles R. Dodge, expert for the United States on fibers, as follows:

"It is a stemless species, common in shady places all over Panama and along the coast of New Granada and Ecuador. The leaves, pointed like a fan, are borne on three cornered stalks from six to fourteen feet high. They are about four feet in diameter and deeply cut into four or five divisions, each of which is again cut. The leaves are gathered while young and stiff, and the parallel veins are removed, after which they are split into shreds, but not separated at the stalk end, and immersed in boiling water for a short time and bleached in the sun."

These strands are about a yard long and about a half inch wide. Before they are ready for the braider they are rolled from either edge and become round, and then they are again pressed flat and are ready for the weaver. In order to work the material it must be dipped into water every few minutes. If this is not done, the strands become brittle and break. A hat to command a high price must be perfect, and in order that it may be so and have no loose strand, no broken part, the weavers never work in the hot hours of the day, and many of them do their weaving only at night by candlelight.

A first class hat, one of the kind offered in New York at the present time for $75, usually takes about six months to make, and when it arrives there it is shapeless, dirty and unsightly. In New York it is cleaned and pressed into shape. The expert can tell by the "button," the central point of the crown of the hat, where the weaver begins the work, in which part of the country the hat was made. Every country has its peculiar style, which is taught to the children when they begin to work. They practice on low grade material for years, and when they have acquired sufficient skill they begin work with the better material; but, it matters not what grade of hat they make, the "button" is always made in the same way.

One of the famous panama hats was the one which was worn by Louis Napoleon some time in the fifties. It had a great breadth of brim, was firm in texture as silk, pliable and exceedingly light. The hat was valued at $500. It took a long time in those days to order merchandise from South America, and the emperor had the satisfaction of possessing the only hat of the kind in Paris. But the next season the broad brimmed panama hats were popular with persons who could afford to pay high prices for the luxury, and the same thing happened in Paris that has taken place here—straw hat makers put imitation hats on the market, and the original article suffered in popularity. The hatmakers in southern France and Italy flooded the country with "panama" hats, and Napoleon III. gave the fashion its death stroke by presenting his famous specimen to the head gardener of the Tuilleries.

New Orleans was the American headquarters for panama hats before the civil war, and the place where they were sold largely was the French market. One of the finest specimens that ever came to New York was owned by a man who was one of the American agents of the Havana lottery.

HYPNOTISM BY TELEPHONE

IDLEWILDE PARK.

Sunday, June 15 to 21.

The services of Prof. Lawrence Kenner of Houston, Texas, have been obtained for a series of his telephone feats as an outside attraction, at a great cost.

Prof. Kenner is pronounced by scientists and the press to be the greatest living exponent of this science and a wonder of the age.

He has performed this feat in all the large cities throughout the United States. He performed last summer on Young's Pier at Atlantic City, N. J., operating from Philadelphia.

A platform will be built on Park grounds with telephone and cots for subjects. He will work from the city. After two subjects have been hypnotized and Doctors have made tests, then he will return and perform other miraculous feats and awaken subjects. They will fall as shot through the heart. Wonderful and exciting. This feat will be performed every evening promptly at 8 o'clock. Don't miss it.

THE EXPLANATION.

How the Beer War Was Finally Brought to an End.

The following poem by Rudyard Kipling comes to the Cincinnati Commercial Tribune by wireless pneumatic tube from London via Cape Town, Calcutta, Nagasaki, Portland, Lincoln, Neb.; Kalamazoo, Mich., and Dopeville, Ind. Copyright not yet applied for. Rights of dramatization reserved by H. H. Caine. Trespassers, beware!

Ye have harked to my heart to heart sermons, have noted the knocks that I gave;
Ye have shaken your heads when I trumpeted truth; to do it I surely was brave,
And now as the bloody jawed lion rests after his dinner of beer
Ye take up the national ledger and foot up the ultimate score!

The army is shy many legions, the treasury out many "bobs,"
While the toll that ye paid in money and men is proof that the Beer's no stob,
But in casting up the column of figures, whatever the finish may be,
Remember I showed up your grievous faults; you've got to give credit to me!

I called you weird names that I made up;
I lapped you well with my tongue,
And some of you thought I was vicious,
And some of you wished I was hung,
But Kitchener, silent and sanguine, knew well enough he couldn't win
Unless I was true to my talent and told ye your national sin!

So I dragged forth your faults as I found them, I stated just where you were weak.

I hammered your love for athletics, for this is your yellowest streak,
And when I had finished the lesson ye gave up the sports that were wrong
And turned, as one man, to the ladylike fad—the pulsating game of pingpong!

Ye played it for breakfast and supper, for dinner, for lunch and in bed,
Ye played in a manner that proved beyond doubt your grace and your skill were not dead.
And see what your legions have landed! Peace comes as a tremulous dove
To rest on the veldt and the kopjes as well as the flag that we love!

Ye have harked to my heart to heart sermons, have noted the knocks that I gave;
Ye have thought that your Ruddy was daffy and wished you could make him behave.

But do not forget to remember to place the full credit where due,
For pingpong and I brought the war to an end, and that's mighty lucky for you

ROSEBUD RESERVATION.

A Half Million Acres of Rich Land to Be Opened For Settlement.

The new extension now being built by the Northwestern line to Bonesteel, S. D., brings to mind the twenty recently made with the chiefs of the warlike Sioux by which part of the famous Rosebud reservation is to be turned over to the government and one more of the choice tracts of public lands now remaining be thus opened to settlement.

The land in question lies between the Missouri and Niobrara rivers and is well watered and fertile. Farm lands near the reservation are selling at from $20 to $35 an acre, grazing lands at from $6 to $15.

The country is level or slightly rolling, consisting of black loam with clay subsoil, making the very best of farming land. It seems to suffer exceptionally little from drought.

A great boom has sprung up in Bonesteel, to which point the Northwestern line is building. Last fall there were fifty settlers there. Today there is a town of 300. Five real estate offices have opened, and town lots are selling at from $300 to $800 each.

The reservation will probably be opened by a lottery plan such as was made use of in Oklahoma. Fifty thousand people are expected to take part in the drawing for the land.

To enter a homestead of 160 acres one must be the head of a family or have attained the age of twenty-one years, a citizen of the United States or one who has filed his declaration to become such. To establish a title to the land residence must be maintained thereon, improving and cultivating the land continuously for five years.

A liberal onion acreage is probable, taking the country at large. Preliminary reports to American Agriculturist from all leading onion growing sections, both west and east, point to this tendency, a natural consequence of the very high prices the past winter. The enlarged area, however, is not universal.

NOTES OF THE Y. M. C. A.

Timely Information on Camps Conducted For Boys.

FEW RULES AND MUCH FREEDOM

Use of Firearms and Swimming Not Allowed Without the Presence of a Leader—Chief Feature of the Day The Big Evening Campfire—Camp Properties.

Fully 4,000 boys were in the camps conducted by the Young Men's Christian associations last year throughout North America, on lakes, rivers and islands by the ocean. These camps are unique. They combine all the rough and ready features that can be introduced into a camp for boys from twelve to eighteen—everything that can be adapted from the hunter and the trapper, the boatman and sailor and fisherman for a camp lasting from ten days to four weeks or sometimes for ten weeks, so that a party of city boys may live healthfully, helpfully and happily under the guidance and direction of the camp leader. These leaders are generally secretaries and physical directors of the associations, assisted by a group of members who have had experience in out of door life. A way of handling these camps has been developed that is unique and characteristic of the associations, as they have run camps for eighteen years. The only camp rules are no firearms and no swimming without the presence of a leader. Under these rules serious accidents are almost unknown.

In some of the camps over 200 will be under canvas for two to four weeks. Each group of six to ten boys has a leader, a young man or older man of sense and experience. This man is there as a companion and not as a policeman or commanding officer. The strongest influence of the camps comes from companionship with athletic Christian men. The better a leader can play ball the greater influence he has with the boys. There is the largest kind of freedom of life, dress and habits, and yet there are rules underneath, but not felt unpleasantly. The great feature of the day comes in the evening, when the big campfire is started. Then there are songs, music, jokes, recitations, stories and often heart to heart talks that touch the life of the boys and change their character.

These camps are regarded as the strongest religious factors of the Young Men's Christian associations for shaping the religious character of boys, and sometimes an active camp returns without positive religious convictions which carry them through life and shape their characters.

Some properties have been acquired for these camps. A lady gave a large island off the coast of Maine for the Massachusetts and Rhode Island boys. Montreal boys have an island in Canada. Philadelphia has a farm of 450 acres. Cleveland has a farm with a lake and river on it near the city. Vacation time is often a perilous time in life, but the association means to make it a making time of character.

TARKINGTON TO FARM.

Indiana Author, Sick of Society, Seeks Relief In Agriculture.

"I am sick of society, sufficed with it. I denounce and renounce it. Its artificiality is sickening. It is worse in large cities. In New York it is the worst in the world."

These words Booth Tarkington, author, playwright and politician, employed as introducing the declaration that he is about to become a farmer, says a dispatch from Indianapolis to the New York Evening Journal. Immediately after his marriage to Miss Louise Fletcher of Indianapolis he will go abroad, and upon his return in two or three months they will make their home on the outskirts of the city.

"I don't know much about gardening or farming or cattle or horses," said Tarkington, "but I am going into the regular farming business on a small scale, whether I know anything about it or not. I am reading some books on orchards, and I have just completed a long treatise on tomato vines. I guess we'll make out some way."

Mr. Tarkington's country home is already furnished. When the property was transferred, he secured as bonus one cow, aged eight years, and one horse, bay, aged fourteen years. With these and a few chickens Mr. Tarkington will begin his farming.

"GOD BLESS PINGPONG."

Preacher Lauded the Game In Addressing School Pupils.

The Rev. Dr. Samuel R. U. Calthorpe, pastor of May Memorial church at Syracuse, recently addressed the graduation class of the Syracuse Classical school, says the New York World. "Recreation is of highest importance," said he. "If you can play football, do it. You girls can play tennis, and I advise that. The best indoor game that has yet been discovered is pingpong, in spite of all the ridicule that has been thrown upon it. God bless pingpong."

Odd Effect of Volcanic Ashes. The rain of ashes in Fort de France, Martinique, on May 20 had a peculiar effect on the cruiser Cincinnati, lying in the harbor, says the New York Times. On the day before the second great eruption of Mount Pelee the cruiser had been painted a dazzling white. After the darkness which lasted during the eruption had cleared away it was found that the cruiser had been turned to a dirty drab, and now she will have to be painted all over again.
